Akron Family Institute Initiative

To Serve

Those Who Serve and Those Who Wait

To our troops and the significant others of those who are deploying or those who have been deployed:

Akron Family Institute, a well-respected private group of psychologist and counselors are offering free confidential group therapy for our military and their significant others. Akron Family Institute has been in practice for 25 years, and more information on the group can be found at Akron Family Institute.com. The first group is called "Rekindling" and will serve those who will be deploying and those who have been deployed and are now home, and their partners. The focus of the group will be supporting and managing the concerns of those who are preparing for time apart and those who are now back together again and readapting to life after deployment. This group will be facilitated by two therapists who are familiar with the issues. This group is open-ended and couples may attend once or many times.

It will meet every other week on Thursday nights from 7:30pm to 9:00pm. beginning on June 15th 2006. The group will meet at Akron Family Institute 3469 Fortuna Drive in Akron.
